Generocksity Victoria	generocksityvictoria@gmail.com	Generocksity is a completely student-run non-profit organization* dedicated to educating young adults on the importance of philanthropy and how easily it can be integrated into their daily lives to help develop life-long habits of effective giving. According to Stats Canada (2013), young adults aged 20-24 make up the least philanthropic population in Canada and are the least likely to donate their time or money in any amount. We believe this is an issue of poor education rather than poor intentions and that given the proper motivation and precise tools to take initiative, our generation can become leaders and innovators in effective philanthropy. Beginning with only 5 teenagers in November 2013, Generocksity has quickly grown into a organization with over 100 active team members distributed across six of Canada's largest universities and New York City. While building a reputation for holding tremendously fun and inspiring events that significantly benefit the local community, Generocksity has engaged over 7,500 young adults and raised over $100,000 for more than 25 local charities.

UVic WUSC	wuscuvic@gmail.com	UVic's WUSC committee is one of over 70 WUSC Local Committees active on university and college campuses across Canada. Our primary function is to run the Student Refugee Program (SRP) on campus. Each year, we sponsor four students from refugee camps to pursue their post-secondary studies at UVic. The sponsored students receive Permanent Residence status upon arrival in Canada. In previous years, our sponsored students' countries of origin have been places like Somalia, Rwanda, Burma, South Sudan, Democratic Republic of the Congo, and Afghanistan. The WUSC Local Committee provides financial, logistical, and community support to the sponsored students. The SRP is a unique program that requires a great amount of attention, especially during the initial stages of settlement. Through the program we organize social events, coordinate settlement details, build a community for the students, offer academic support, provide advice, and much more. The program is funded by UVic, donations, and undergraduate and graduate student fees. Each full-time undergraduate student pays $2.50 to WUSC each semester, and each grad student $2.00 a semester. All of this money goes directly to the sponsored students' budgets. This includes the cost of accommodation, tuition, books, and other living expenses. In addition, our Local Committee pays into the WUSC Ottawa contribution fund, which helps finance some of the overseas costs incurred by the program. While the SRP only covers living expenses for one year, the students can apply for student loans and/or UVic bursaries to help them continue their studies. They also have a well-established support network, consisting of Local Committee members and fellow SRP alumni. The UVic local committee also holds other fundraising and awareness activities throughout the year such as public lectures, movie nights, and an annual Fun Run.
