African and Caribbean Students Associations	uvicacsa@gmail.com	The aim of this club is to foster relationship building and community among the African and Caribbean Diaspora in Uvic.
AIESEC	lcp.victoria@gmail.com	AIESEC is the largest student-run and non-profit organization in the world. We develop the leadership potential of youth through experiential learning, volunteer experiences and professional internships. In Uvic Chapter, we aim to develop youth leaders by building relationships with local companies and campus faculties to drive exchanges; to make more impacts on students and society through young leaders. Moreover, enabling both employers and organizations to connect with a global network of talent by providing an internship opportunity.
Art of Living Club	collard@uvic.ca	UVIC's Art of Living club is comprised of both educational and humanitarian aspects. We offer students the opportunity to take part in educational workshops that uplift the individual through meditation, yoga, and breathing practices. Moreover, we offer students the opportunity to uplift the community through service in charity projects such as Yogathon!
Authors with Autism	yosesheppard@gmail.com	AWA is a University of Victoria based learning community for persons with autism. Writing fosters communication skills, thereby creating social spaces and allowing communities to create and share cultures. Authors with Autism is a peer-support group and members are encouraged to support each other in the spirit of mutual helpfulness and the fostering of community affiliations of kind fellowship. Members do not have to be gifted or published writers; Authors with Autism is about persons with autism authoring their own lives. We organize the Autism's Own Conference every year as a celebration of the peer-reviewed Autism's Own Journal.
AUVic	auvic@uvic.ca	AUVic is an interdisciplinary student-run group that designs and builds an autonomous submersible robot to compete in the international RoboSub competition. The primary purpose of AUVic is to provide students with hands-on exposure to underwater technology and embedded systems. Every aspect of the robot must be designed, created and tested by the team, giving students the opportunity to apply their theoretical knowledge in order to solve real world challenges. The competition itself is an obstacle course with challenges such as object and colour recognition, firing torpedos at targets, dropping weights into bins, picking up and transporting objects, and detecting sonar pingers.

The University of Victoria's Formula Hybrid Team (UVic Hybrid)	uvicformulahybrid@gmail.com	The UVic Hybrid Team is a group of UVic engineering students that design, build, and compete with hybrid vehicles. Our vehicles challenge the status-quo of hybrid vehicle technology, with performance and efficiency both far above conventional vehicles. Our work is difficult, but the team constantly steps up to the challenges of technical innovation that are presented when exploring new technology. However, the scope of our team extends beyond just building hybrid vehicles; we also believe it is important to give back to the community. Throughout the year we work in partnership with local organizations and schools to educate youth and the community about our hybrid technology, with the simultaneous goal of inspiring young minds to pursue a career in a scientific field. Informing the public, especially kids about hybrid technology is also key to making it mainstream in the eyes of consumers. As in any organization, the team of people pushing us forward is by far our best asset. This team is based on the dedication and hard work of undergraduate and graduate students from all disciplines of engineering, as well as business and economics faculties. Members come and go over the years but one thing remains constant: the UVic Hybrid team attracts some of the top students at UVic. Many of our old team members are now working at companies like Ford, GM, and Tesla.
